

REINVENTING THE FUTURE

ASME
FOUNDATION

Diversity Driving Innovation

Capitol Crossing | 200 Massachusetts Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20001

March 21, 2024 | 6pm - 9pm

Honoring Dr. Oscar Barton, Jr.

Ph.D., P.E., F.ASME | Recipient of the 2024 Edwin F. Church Medal

For his distinguished service advancing mechanical engineering education and his extraordinary advocacy of diversity in engineering.

The ASME Foundation is proud to launch the Dr. Oscar Barton, Jr., Endowed Scholarship Fund. Fueled by directed donations to ASME's Campaign for Next Generation Engineers, the Barton Scholarship will broaden participation in engineering of those in underrepresented communities, particularly male students, entering a four-year engineering program from a Community College.

About the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the ASME Foundation

ASME was founded in 1880 as a professional association where mechanical engineers could exchange ideas and share information. Today, ASME sets the global codes and standards across mechanical engineering and related disciplines with an unwavering commitment to public safety and engineering excellence. Through Education that Inspires, helping young people pursue Careers that Matter, to nurturing Ideas that Innovate, the ASME Foundation opens the world of engineering to diverse young people who will transform the world.
